Re: Non-GMO declaration

We declare that all crops and varieties bred by Takii originate from conventional breeding techniques and are not genetically modified through development using genetic modification techniques subject to Directive 2001/18/EC.

We also certify that the below goods are produced through conventional methods.

We take utmost care to avoid the occurrence of natural cross-pollination by GMO plants which may be grown by a third party in the proximity of the seed production field of Takii's variety. However, eliminating the event of unintended pollination by wind and/or insects at seed production fields is practically impossible. Thus, this declaration does not guarantee that traces of a plant material derived from GMO do not exist in all seed lots.

This statement applies to our varieties that are commercial or will become commercial in the year 2024. In case required, we will provide a new statement after the termination of this period.

Sincerely,

Takii Europe B.V.
